SMALL PACKAGES

As you know, after routing the Greeks, the Maccabees began purifying the desecrated Temple in Jerusalem, but could find only enough oil to kindle the Menorah for one day. Happily, a miracle occurred: the oil burned eight days – just enough time to prepare a fresh supply.

The sixteenth century sage, Rabbi Joseph Karo, asks a sly question about this account. He figures that if there was sufficient oil to last one day, the miracle was only seven days long. Why, then, he asks, do we celebrate eight days of Chanukah when nothing extraordinary happened on the first?

In answer to the question, Rabbi Chaim of Brisk (1853-1918) suggests that the Chanukah miracle is one of quality, not quantity. According to him, those who think that the original oil was entirely spent at the end of the first day and that a new supply magically appeared out of nowhere on each subsequent evening, are mistaken. In fact, he asserts, the whole miracle was that the oil burned more efficiently than it naturally should. Starting with the first day, only an eighth of the standard amount was necessary to keep the flame burning every 24 hours. Hence, there were a full eight days of wonder from this remarkable oil – not just seven. Accordingly, Chanukah teaches us the priority of quality over quantity.

Yitzchak Mirsky, the contemporary scholar, notes that this lesson is also highlighted in the Al haNissim prayer which is included in the Chanukah Amidah and Birkat haMazon. There we praise G-d, who is credited with delivering “the strong into the hands of the weak, the many into the hands of the few, the impure into the hands of the pure, the wicked into the hands of the righteous, and the arrogant into the hands of Torah students.” Once again, the size of a civilization is less important than the values, ideals, and commitments which inspire it.

In this Chanukah spirit, let us teach our children and grandchildren the virtue of quality over quantity. May the gifts we give them throughout life – both literal and figurative – demonstrate that good things often come in small packages.

Adam Sandler sings the following song/rhyme:

I wrote a song for all those nice little Jewish kids who don't get to hear any Chanukah songs
Here we go!

*Put on your yarmulke
Here comes Hanukkah
So much funukkah
To celebrate Hanukkah
Hanukkah is
The Festival of Lights
Instead of one day of presents
We have eight crazy nights!*

The Jewish holiday Hanukkah is upon us. Hanukkah is a Jewish festival commemorating the rededication of the Second temple in Jerusalem at the time of the Maccabean Revolt against the Seleucid Empire. It is also known as the Festival of Lights. To mark the eight-day holiday, dignitaries will gather to light the National Menorah across from the White House while in the Five Towns almost every park will display a hanukiah.

The hanukiah (or hanukkah menorah) is a candleholder, an important Hanukkah symbol as the story goes, a small quantity of oil to light the Temple's menorah miraculously lasted eight days. The candles are placed on the menorah from right to left, the same direction in which one reads Hebrew. However, when lighting the menorah, you move in the opposite direction, using the shamash to light the candles from left to right, so that the newest candle is always lighted first.

Each night at sundown, family and friends gather to light another candle on the hanukiah. Singing special songs such as Ma'Oz Tzur, reciting the Hallel prayer and telling the story of Chanah and her Seven Sons. Indeed, heroism and martyrdom is an integral part of the festival.

Then it's time to eat! To celebrate the history of the holiday, many traditional dishes are cooked using lots of oil. It's said that the fried treats are a good fit for a holiday focused on oil, commemorating the miracle of one night of oil lasting for eight. The word sufganiyot (jelly donut) can be traced back to the Greek word sufan, meaning "spongy" or "fried," as can the Arabic word for a smaller, deep-fried doughnut named sfenj.

One of the most popular foods eaten during Hanukkah are latkes, which are fried potato pancakes. Some Jewish people eat latkes sweet, accompanied with apple sauce, while others prefer them savoury, served with sour cream

What is the proper greeting for Hanukkah? To wish someone a Happy Hanukkah, say "Hanukkah Sameach!" (Happy Hanukkah) or simply "Chag Sameach!" (Happy Holiday). Or if you want to show off your Hebrew skills, say "Chag Urim Sameach!" (Urim means light).

Traditionally, gifts were not a part of Hanukkah. Instead gelt -- a small amount of money or chocolate coins -- was given to children. Ideally, Hanukkah gifts should serve as an important vehicle for identity-preserving acculturation (as opposed to identity-sacrificing assimilation). Books or board games are appropriate gifts.

And, of course, spinning the dreidel (a four-sided top) is a highlight of the night.

As you light one candle per day for eight days, reflect on the following eight joys we share as a collective at CSOI:

Day 1. The members of CSOI davened (safe and healthy) inside, outside, and zoomside throughout the High Holidays.

Day 2. The members of CSOI celebrated / dined in the Congregation Sukkah during the week of Sukkot.

Day 3. The members of CSOI honored our congregants on Simchat Torah as we rejoiced in celebration and ate candied apples.

Day 4. Harriet Gefen offered us a Hebrew reading class for beginners. Rachel Ginsburg offered us an Intermediate Conversational Hebrew Class.

Day 5. Sisterhood resumed the "Bring your own Lunch and Learn Series."

Day 6. We continue to meet at CSOI for Erev Shabbat, each Friday evening.

Day 7. We continue to meet at CSOI for Shabbat Service, each Saturday morning from 9:30am – 11:15am. Come join us for services followed by Kiddush.

Day 8. We give thanks to the membership for their generous support during the High Holiday Appeal. It is not too late to send in a donation in behalf of friends and family.

"Chag Urim Sameach!"

Woodmere Sisterhood

As we wind down from the extreme high of the holiest days of the year, we look forward to a new year. Woodmere Sisterhood is here to strengthen our connections with those in our community and instill a feeling of fellowship. We are here for you. So...please make sure you join/renew your Woodmere Sisterhood membership. We look forward to receiving your dues for the new year. We could not do all that Sisterhood does without all our treasured members. Watch your mail/email for more information.

On November 11, Woodmere Sisterhood will be sponsoring a Short Film on Kristalnacht, “The Night of Broken Glass.” This film provides a summary of the Nazis’ initial aggressive actions against the Jewish people, the events leading up to Kristalnacht and the subsequent historic actions. After viewing the film, a few members of our Congregation will share their stories of family members who experienced and survived Kristalnacht on November 9, 1938. This event will be on ZOOM. Details to follow.

Our next Book Club will take place on December 9. The book to be discussed is Marjorie Morningstar by Herman Wouk. Marjorie Morningstar has been called “the first Jewish novel that was popular and successful, not merely to a Jewish audience but to a general one.”

In loving memory of Elayne Cheslow Flores, Woodmere Sisterhood has renamed our lunch and learn program. From now on, it will be referred to as the Elayne Cheslow Flores Lunch and Learn Series. The next two dates will be November 18 and December 16 at 1:00 pm. Bring your own lunch and ZOOM. Thank you to all those who participated in our opening event on October 21.

Be on the lookout for information regarding our upcoming annual Israel fundraising event. We will be raising funds for Leket Israel, the National Food Bank and leading food rescue organization in Israel.

Wishing you all a safe and healthy Thanksgiving and a joyous Hanukkah...
